Gov. Pingree has pardoned Gen. W. L. White and Gen. A. F. Marsh, former officials in the Michigan National Guard, convicted of complicity in military clothing frauds. They will, however, pay fines of $5,000 each on the installment plan at the rate of $1,000 a year each.

The court of appeals decides that if you want to beat the insurance companies by suiciding, you can do so and your legatee can force the payment of the money. It is not likely, however, that there will be any rush to make money in that way. Men in their right minds do not, as a general thing, want to die to win.

The officials of the mine workers in Hopkins county are receiving provisions in car load lots to feed the striking miners, and are asserting with confidence that they will win the strike. R. H. McIntosh, a union miner, was fined $5 at Madisonville for assaulting an employe at Carbondale mines. Judge Hall, of Webster county, has issued an anti-intimidation proclamation, but the mayor of Providence is openly expressing sympathy with the strike. Manager Booth, of the Carbondale mines, denies that any of his men have gone out on strike.

This thrust at Taylor and Finley caused nearly every one in the large audience to smile. It was an elite audience, with several notables present.

CEDAR CREEK.

J. F. Hampton, an old Confederate soldier belonging to Lee's army, is lying very low at his home on the banks of Cedar Creek.

J. P. Chandler, auctioneer, reports R. E. Gaines' sale as follows: Steers $24, heifers $12 to $20, two small calves at $6.75, milk cows sold from $23 to $41, horses $20 to $31.50, young mules $51. Crowd large. Bidding good. Household goods sold well.

STORY OF A SLAVE.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. Geo. P. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of 'Electric Bitters' she was wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a Godsend so weak, sickly, run-down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 30c. Sold at Penny's Drug Store.

The young men of our town gave quite a treat to our citizens Saturday night. They prepared a game supper and served a delightful burgoo free to all who would come and partake. "Quail on toast" was an especial dish for the ladies. Ward Moore was master of ceremonies, and everyone present was abundantly served and seemed to enjoy the occasion.

Rev. J. C. McPeeters, of Philadelphia, and 10,000 reformed Presbyterians refused to ever cast a ballot for any candidate. THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

President McKinley's message to Congress is a voluminous document, consisting of some 18,000 words.

It is an exhaustive paper, so far as giving a lengthy and detailed account of the operations of his administration but that it is a "great State paper" is a proposition that can not seriously be insisted upon by any one at all familiar with such communications.

We maintain that President McKinley is not a statesman, but simply a politician, adroit and shrewd in using men to advance his schemes; willing to surrender and yield his plans, and even his principles, when it was demanded by those whose influence he found it necessary to retain.

During the whole of his public career he can not be said to have originated any distinct and individual policy in the affairs of our government. If at any time he has had well defined views upon a State matter, he has abandoned them at the command of his political associates, when necessary to subserve their interests.

His message is entirely in keeping and consistent with this idea of the man, going into great detail concerning matters which are fully set out in the reports from the different departments; he is just as careful to refrain from being explicit in regard to the course which should be pursued by our government upon the great questions, and pressing issues of the age.

After indulging in some "glittering and sounding generalities," he first discusses the Chinese question and proceeds to recite at great length the recent troubles in China, all of which is matter of the fullest notoriety, and says "The disposition of the emperor's government gives hope of a complete settlement of all questions involved."

The only mention made of any plan by which reparation is to be had for the wrongs done to our country is that Russia suggests that the "matter be relegated to the court of arbitration at the Hague." What an insane conclusion! Citizens and subjects of the United States have been murdered, their homes pillaged, our representatives subjected to unprecedented indignities; and a suggestion of compromise from Russia is the only thing which the president of the United States has to offer to Congress upon so serious a matter. What would President Monroe, Gen. Jackson, President Lincoln have done at such a juncture as this?

After elaborating other dealings with foreign nations, he discusses the Nicaragua canal. There is not a single enterprise of National interest that is so important to us, commercially or otherwise, as the construction of this canal, and its control when constructed; and after detailing some action of the Nicaraguan government concerning the matter, he contents himself by saying: "I commend to the early attention of the Senate the convention with Great Britain to facilitate the construction of such a canal, etc." Compare this with the manner in which President Cleveland dealt with England over the Venezuelan question. He then refers to our relations with England, as being very friendly, all of which is true, but makes no mention of the quiet relinquishment of a portion of Alaska, in contravention of the battle cry of his campaign that we should never haul down the flag.

His sole reference to any action upon the currency question is as follows:

"It will be the duty, as I am sure it will be the disposition of Congress to provide whether further legislation is needed to insure the continued parity under all conditions between our two forms of metallic money, silver or gold."

What wise counsel; what vigorous treatment of the financial principle to which he claimed all of our prosperity to be due; and which the republicans contended was the paramount issue of the campaign. He refers in the briefest manner possible to the question of trusts, and disposes of the whole matter by saying:

"The whole question is so important and far-reaching that I am sure no part of it will be lightly considered, but every phase of it will have the studied deliberation of the Congress, resulting in wise and judicial action."

We must conclude that President McKinley evidently considers the question so far-reaching, as to be entirely beyond his ability or purpose to outline and submit to Congress any exact and effective measures for the suppression of these menacing and growing evils. President McKinley should feel assured that his utterance upon the trust question will not in the least annoy or offend the most sensitive of the great corporations who furnished the money to procure his election.

He next reviews the Philippine question. Of this he says, in regard to his former message: "I abstain in recommending at this time a specific and final form of government for the territory actually held by the United States forces," and to be consistent, he continues to "abstain from recommending a specific and final form of government for that territory." Months ago, he says, he sent a commission to the Philippines to report upon this matter, and they were prolific in their communications sent the president at the country's expense to be used as campaign material, and yet with all the assistance of this and other communications, he still abstains from recommending any specific form of government. Can it be that he is hampered by the constitution of the United States; that that instrument contains some limitations upon the powers he would like to exercise over this territory, or is he embarrassed by the fact that the constitution contains no provision whatever for the specific government of colonial territory.

He then speaks of Porto Rico, but omits to state what "our plain duty" requires of us in our treatment of these people.

He offers solid and substantial comforts to pension claimants by telling them that "the government appreciates their services by making pension payments liberal beyond precedent and to show the extent of this appreciation, says we have spent during the year, the nice sum of $168,462,130, and added to the list of pensioners during the year 45,344 names." Truly this is a great country to provide for such disbursements as this! With rare satire and irony, he closes by insisting that we must guard against extravagance, and imposes upon us the exercise of wise economy!

THE supreme court, Justice Harlan, of course, dissenting, decides that the Kentucky Separate Coach law is not unconstitutional. The railroad had attacked the law on the ground that it was an interference with inter-State commerce. Without replying specifically to this objection the court said there is a sufficient compliance with the law if a separate coach for local colored passengers is attached to a train while passing through the State. The Kentucky representative in the court says that the Separate Coach law is an interference with the inter-State commerce law and that the Kentucky Legislature had no right to classify citizens by color in railway coaches. Judge Harlan, it seems, can not divest himself of his prejudice and his partisan feeling, and nearly always gets in his work in cases that have the least political significance with an opinion intended to help his party.

JUDGE PATTERSON, of the Lebanon circuit, was indicted at Greensburg for a breach of the peace in singing patriotic songs in unearthy tones to the annoyance of other persons. He waived the service of a summons, a special judge was selected, and he was at once tried by a jury and acquitted, as there was absolutely no evidence against him, he only being in the room where some of the others, including Roaring Bill Sweeney, were singing. Bill is also indicted for the offense, and if he can make as much noise singing as he can in speaking, he will doubtless get the limit. Singing has not been generally regarded as an offense in law, but the way some people murder melody, should make it a capital offense, punishable by death.

GEN. EAGAN thinks the election vindicated him also, and he has gone to Washington for a pardon and a restoration to duty. It will be remembered that Eagan used language unbecoming a gentleman and a soldier in characterizing a report of Gen. Miles on the subject of the embalmed beef furnished the army in the war with Spain, for which he was sentenced to do nothing thereafter and to receive for it $7,500 during his natural life, with the probability of a big pension after it to his family. Considering the enormity of his crime he ought to feel that he got off very easily, and be willing to let it go at that.

STANDARD Oil stock went up 30 points the other day and sold at $810. Except that this trust is grinding tribute out of the people, its stock would not be so valuable.

THE open meeting of the republican State central committee at Louisville was held with closed doors, not even the press being admitted.

THAT charming publication, The Congressional Record, is again before us, for which we are very thankful.

POLITICAL.

Gov. Beckham's official majority is 3,689; Congressman Gilbert's is 1,044. Senator Fairbanks introduced a resolution to admit Oklahoma to Statehood.

Senator Stewart has introduced a bill providing for a Philippine supreme court of five judges.

The army estimates for 1901 call for an appropriation of $185,903,501. Of this $20,000,000 is asked for river and harbor improvement.

An amendment to the Army bill is meant to provide for retiring Shafter as a major general, and Fitzhugh Lee and James H. Wilson as brigadier generals.

Election Commissioners Poyntz and Fulton elected C. H. Duty, republican, to succeed Morton K. Yonts on the State Board. Allen E. Smith was elected secretary.

Representative Boreing will ask Congress for an appropriation of $300,000 for a lock and dam in the Cumberland below Burnside.

Gov. Beckham's certificate of election, which was given him Wednesday, is the first ever signed by all members of the commission.

Charles A. Towne has accepted the appointment as United States Senator from Minnesota to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Cushman K. Davis.

The report of the Isthmian Canal Commission was submitted to Congress by the president. The commission favors the Nicaragua route and estimates the cost of constructing the canal at $200,540,000.

Dr. John Mason Williams, who "also ran" for Congress, is in Washington consulting the big bugs about contesting Hon. G. G. Gilbert's seat and getting that $2,000 that is very foolishly allowed a contestant.

Ex-Gov. W. O. Bradley addressed the republican State central committee which met in Louisville and urged that the fight for "civil liberty" be kept up. The committee voted to establish permanent headquarters in Louisville.

"It is said ex-Gov. Bradley would accept the honor," remarks one of the boys in writing about that new Federal judgeship proposed for Kentucky. Worse'n that, son. He'd chase it 25,000 miles, or about the circumference of the earth on which we live.—Louisville Times.

The bill reducing the war revenue tax was reported to the House and a final vote is expected before Christmas. The special stamp tax is almost entirely removed. There is a reduction of 25 cents a barrel on beer, and also a reduction on tobacco. The total reduction is estimated to be about $40,000,000.

Attorneys for the republican contestants for the minor State offices filed affidavits in the court of appeals to the effect that at the time of submission of the cases on their merits, they objected to such submission and asked that the records show such objections. It is supposed they are cherishing a faint hope of having the case reviewed when there is a republican majority in the appellate court.

The report of the Isthmian Canal commission, transmitted to Congress, favors the Nicaragua route. The estimated cost is $200,540,000. The estimated cost of the Panama route is $142,342,579 or $156,376,458, according to which course is taken. The most important work on the Nicaragua route will be the dam across the San Juan river. Ten years is estimated as the time necessary to construct the canal.

Bryan's plurality over McKinley in this State is 8,098.

The ways and means committee voted to report the revenue reduction bill as introduced with an amendment making it take effect upon its passage instead of 30 days later.

Gen. Eagan, the embalmed beef hero who was given a vacation with full pay for blackguarding Gen. Miles, was restored to duty by the president and then placed on the retired list.

J. Willard Mitchell, of Jessamine county, was appointed by Gov. Beckham to the office of Judge Advocate General of the State guard. The position is a staff one and carries with it the rank of colonel.

The certificate of election of Judge Ed C. O'Rear as appellate judge was presented to his wife, who is in Frankfort, by Chief Justice Hazelrigg. Gov. Beckham will issue a commission to the new judge within a few days.

THE announcement of that sterling democrat, Mr. Eph W. Lillard, of Danville, appears in another column. After being importuned by enthusiastic admirers all over the district to make the race for State Senator he has decided to do so and he will at once begin an active canvass of the four counties. He is a hard worker for the cause of democracy and his valuable services as campaign chairman in Boyle in the campaign just closed should not be forgotten when the convention to nominate a candidate for the office he seeks is held.

ANOTHER WAY.—As some kick on a primary and others on a convention the following way to name the county ticket, suggested by Mr. John C. Pepples, may prove satisfactory to all: Let each committeeman choose two to five good men from his precinct whose business it will be to make a thorough canvass of that precinct and report to the committeeman; the candidates to bear the expenses of the gentlemen selected. This would be cheaper than a primary and it would be the means of getting the sense of the people as to their choice of candidates.

CASEY democrats will put out a strong ticket for county offices in the spring and are going to do their best to elect it. In conversation with a gentleman of that county the other day, he said: "You can bet we are going to put out a ticket and if we don't succeed in electing our men we will give the republicans a scare that they will not soon forget. Three years ago we came within 150 votes of electing several democrats and will do better than that next year." The gentleman further told us that Casey had no candidate for State Senator, but was for any good man the party named.

ELSEWHERE in this issue will be found the announcement of M. Smith Baughman for sheriff. Standing six feet three and tipping the beam at 275 he would make a typical sheriff in appearance and he has a legion of friends who would like to see him elected to that responsible office. As a member of the county committee he has been of incalculable value to the party he loves but his fight for the cause began years before he was made a committeeman. He is a democrat, tried and true, a splendid gentleman, a representative citizen and we believe he would make a sheriff Lincoln county would be proud of.

AT a meeting of the directors of The First National Bank held Nov. 30, it was unanimously resolved that it was to the interest of the stockholders of the bank that its capital be reduced from $100,000 to $50,000 on Jan. 30th, and the excess of $50,000 be paid to the stockholders as soon thereafter as practicable. The vote for this purpose will be taken on Jan. 8th. The board recommends this course because it believes a capital of $50,000, with the surplus, will be amply sufficient to meet all the legitimate demands of the bank's customers, is large enough to secure the depositors, and it will be easier for the net earnings to pay all taxes and expenses and to make the usual dividend thereon.

LOST MONEY.—Mr. J. K. Christian tells us that he lost a "cool thousand" on his shipment of turkeys for Thanksgiving. He paid high for them and found a bad market.

MASTER ALBERT WALLACE asks us to say that there is a new lodge here—United Kingdom—of which he is president. Hubert Carpenter is vice president. It pays sick benefits, &c.

OUR friend, John C. Pepples, candidate for jailer, says we made the gap too wide when we said that "any old way" for selecting a county ticket would suit him. He is for any fair and reasonable way, however.

TODAY is "Hawk Day" in Fleming county. These rapacious birds have become so annoying that the 7th of December has been set apart for every good citizen to turn out and kill as many of the pests as possible. They are said to have nearly exterminated the quails in the county.

OUR good friend, Rev. W. S. Grinstead, of Taylorsville, but for several years pastor of the Methodist church here, isn't far from being a democrat. "I voted for Wooley, but I did all in my power for Beckham and Gilbert," he said to us the other day. "I am a prohibitionist, but when the issue is between democracy and republicanism, you can generally count me on the side of the former," he added.

OUR item in last issue opposing a primary has brought forth comment, and all of it has not been favorable, but we are not changed in the belief that that way of making a ticket for county offices is not the most practicable. A gentleman who was in Madison this week tells us that the primary in that county succeeded in doing two things which will likely lose the democratic party votes, viz, making the defeated candidates and their friends sore and putting all of the nominees in two magisterial districts of that big county. Do Lincoln county democrats want to take such chances? Surely those who have the interest of the party at heart do not. Again we refer to the manner adopted four years ago and again we urge that way of selecting nominees. Our county committee is composed of the best men of the county, men who would lose sight of personal preferences to further democracy's cause and men who can be trusted to do their duty. Leave the matter in their hands and they will put out a ticket that democrats will be proud of and republicans fear. The rads are laughing in their sleeves, thinking a primary is certain. They have seen the fruits of them and want their political enemies to have another, thinking they may be able to slip into office through the dissension and discord they believe one will bring.

An unknown dead man was found between Corbin and Williamsburg. He had papers on his person indicating he was a New Yorker. Bruises on his head indicated that he had come to his death by foul means.

A nurse at Richmond rubbed carbolic acid on the abdomen of a 10-day-old child of W. S. Oldham and the little thing came near dying. She mistook it for sweet oil. LATER.—The little thing died after suffering untold agonies.

Postmaster John L. Bosley and Deputy Postmaster Sherman H. Stivers, of Paris, were arrested on the charge of misappropriating postal funds. They were taken to Lexington, where they gave bond for appearance. J. D. McClintock has been placed in temporary charge of the Paris post-office.

The case of Rouse & Co., a New York firm, against C. T. Wallace, of Garrard, for $2,500 for merchandise, has been decided in favor of the plaintiffs to the amount of $1,571.65. R. H. Tomlinson and W. Mc. Johnson were counsel for the plaintiffs and Gov. W. O. Bradley, Capt. William Herndon and Robert Harding for the defense.

William Pittman, of Clay county, has brought suit against the Woman's Home Mission Society of the M. E. Church, South, for $15,000 damages. The defendant is a corporation and conducts a number of colleges in different parts of Kentucky. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant agreed to teach and instruct his wife and five children in its college at London for a term of two years, but that after he had moved from Clay county to London and brought his family there and entered them in defendant's school, the instructors wrongfully expelled them.
